PROFILE

I am a Web Developer passionate about the Front-end world. I create experiences for the users working with HTML, CSS, JS and REACT in cross device development with the use of Figma as source of true. I use specialized tools (Jest and Selenium) for testing, covering unit and automated tests. I have knowledge in Back-end using JAVA and MySQL, PYTHON, and also in agile methodologies as Scrum and Kanban.

I consider myself a creative, curious and constantly innovating person. I believe that these qualities are the key to allowing me to come up with effective solutions, and I love the idea of learning by working and putting a lot of attitude into the process.

I started playing violin at the age of 6, which made me a very empathetic, disciplined, resilient, and goal oriented person with a lot of experience working in small and large groups.
